The significant marketing challenges in the 21st century that are discussed in this webinar are listed as follows:

- Customers are more savvy or informative than marketers.
- Customers are increasingly demanding better quality and reliability in the products and services they buy.
- Customer wants, needs and expectations are changing more rapidly
- Marketers operate in a market where all customers want mostly the same thing
- New products and services are coming to market more quickly than in the past
- Competitors have introduced multiple brands for their products and competition for sales is intense
- Media are being more fragmented and expensive for advertising the products
- Competition is now global
- Competition is well established and entrenched
- Information technology is having a significant impact on business practices
- The accountability of the marketers has been increasing rapidly towards their customers.

Inclusive Digital Safety 10th July 2021

GGES Education Group has organized a webinar on " Inclusive Digital Safety" presented by Dr. Rashmi Anand, Senior Research Officer Indian Institute of Public Administration, Delhi on 10th July 2021.

Online safety needs to be an integral part of children's digital journey. As such, these tailored resources can help shape the e-safety of all children online.

Seeing constant streams of perfect bodies can put unrealistic expectations on young people to look a certain way which can lead to low 'body esteem'. This increased pressure to be perfect can push young people to hide who they are online and portray something they are not.

Equally, they may place more value in how others see them so getting a negative comment or not enough likes on a post can have a real negative impact on their self-esteem and mental health.
